Director of Operations

- Are you an analytical, strategic, competitive person?
- Do you understand how to translate big picture objectives into specific, tactical steps?
- Are you restless, impatient and hard charging?
- Do you understand how to make custom manufacturing processes work bigger, better, faster and stronger?

The Director of Operations for United Steel will be the driver of operational excellence, bottom-line outcomes & quality delivery. We have lots of work to deliver, a solution oriented approach to meeting our client needs, and we need an operational driver to ensure we exceed our promises. You will lead our team over field operations, fabrication shop, purchasing, and project management.

We are looking for a structural steel erection and fabrication operational leader who has proven experience in streamlining effectiveness. For more information visit our website. <http://www.unitedsteel.com/careers/>
